HARD COAL STRIKE ON AT MIDNIGHT

HOMAGE PAID U.S. DEAD ALL AROUND GLOBE

PLEDGES FOR FIRM PEACE ECHOED ON MEMORIAL DAY

(By The Associated Press)

Solemn pledges to make firm the peace provided the dominant theme of reverent world-wide memorial services yesterday (Thursday) for America's soldier dead.

Small American flags fluttered at graves in the wide areas of the Pacific where a year ago America's military forces battled the Japanese, and at each grave in the 36 U. S. military cemeteries in Europe.

Services in the new cemeteries of Europe and the Pacific honored the 295,867 dead and 12,744 missing of World War Two.

But the speakers, echoing the hope that America's sons—and daughters, too—shall not have died in vain, gave tribute to all who fought and died in the wars which have occurred since the birth of the United States of America.

Truman Lays Wreath

In a solemn, almost silent ceremony that lasted no more than a minute, President Truman placed a wreath of white roses at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery. He did not speak. He acted for the entire nation in paying homage to the dead of all wars.

Later Gen. Omar Bradley, in an address at the tomb, declared that world peace could be lost "by timid world leadership and by the premature abandonment of our armed strength." Above all, he said, it could be lost easiest "by retreating behind our walls to live in dangerous isolation."

At the annual Memorial Day ceremonies at Gettysburg National cemetery in Pennsylvania, John W. Bricker, the 1944 Republican vice-presidential nominee, took cognizance of labor problems.

He assailed President Truman's proposal to draft strikers into the army as "abhorrent to the American way of life." Saying he chose to speak of labor because of the "extremely critical" situation, the former Ohio governor, now a candidate for the U. S. Senate, declared that "the rank and file of labor should not be made to suffer such constitutional infractions because of the unwise judgment of their leaders.

Lee Talks At Anzio

Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, American commander in Italy, speaking at the Anzio Beachhead cemetery at Nettuno, Italy, expressed the hope that the German soldiers buried there, together with the American and British dead, may "form the seeds of a widened United Nations Organization."

America's occupation army in Germany observed Memorial Day simply. There were few large ceremonies, for during the past year the bodies of most Americans who died there in World War Two have been transferred from German soil to liberated countries.

At Margraten in the Netherlands, where thousands of Americans lie in a U. S. military cemetery, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in Europe, said the United Nations must demonstrate all-out devotion to preserving peace.

In England Britons and Americans joined in services for the American war dead.

The largest Memorial Day service in France was held at the U. S. military cemetery at Solers, where U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery called on Americans to "sanc-

Susquehanna Flood Subsides; 13 Perish

Harrisburg, Pa., May 30 (AP) — Ebbing flood waters of the Susquehanna River swept out to sea today after causing at least 13 deaths and untold property loss to New York and Pennsylvania cities, towns and farmlands.

Five of the deaths were in Tioga county, Pa., where Red Cross workers reaching long-isolated towns found widespread destruction of homes and farms. At Lawrenceville, Pa., on the New York-Pennsylvania line, one worker reported the entire population found refuge in a cemetery from flood waters.

Some 50 families "sat on tombstones all night, in the pouring rain," Miss Cecile Kennedy said a field worker disclosed, when the Cowanesque River surged over its banks Monday and covered the town. Two men, John Stoll, 37, and Joseph Woodford, 50, drowned.

Details of the disaster were lacking as communications to Lawrenceville and other Tioga communities are still out but all found shelter the following day with relatives or friends, she said.

Downstream, large sections of Sunbury, Pa., were still under water as the river, although receding, continued to flow through a 60-foot break in a dike joining a railroad embarkment and high ground north of the city. Only persons with passes were permitted to enter or depart on the one road clear of water.

On a wild rampage following four days of heavy rains, the Susquehanna rapidly was returning to its channel. The U. S. weather bureau forecast levels as much as 20 feet below flood crests tomorrow.

Only an act of Providence, declared U. S. Weather Forecaster L. F. Conover, saved the lower Susquehanna from a much greater disaster. A rain storm headed for the valley Tuesday shifted to the east, instead, preventing "millions of dollars additional property damage," he said.

But flood losses already tabulated are tremendous with estimates already running in excess of $3,000,000. More than 7,000 families so far have registered with the Red Cross for relief.

"Heaviest damage to householders was in Williamsport, Pa., and Tunkhannock, Pa.," reported Miss Kennedy, who said industries in all the stricken cities lost additional millions.

In Williamsport, where at the height of the flood water covered most of the business district and affected a fifth of the homes, more than 3,500 families have listed losses while 1,200 are still being fed in shelters.

NO MORE JEWS, IS ARAB EDICT

Rulers Of Seven States Say Resettlement Will Mean Bloodshed

BY W. E. CURTIS

Cairo, May 30 (AP)—The rulers of the seven states in the Arab league formally rejected today any proposals for admitting more Jews into Palestine, and one delegate to the meeting here said attempts to resettle 100,000 Jews in the Holy Land "will result in a hundred thousand corpses."

The delegate, who could not be quoted by name, said that any efforts to implement the recommendations of the British-American inquiry committee that 100,000 Jews be admitted into Palestine would result in guerrilla warfare.

The Arab rulers warned the United States that such a step might endanger world peace, and the delegate said "the beaches of Palestine must be defended if necessary. If you want to use the atomic bomb against us, very well. We will die."

In a communique issued a day after adjournment of their meeting here the kings, princes and presidents of the Arab states pledged their support to the United Nations, but said new immigration into Palestine as recommended by the British-American inquiry committee report might create disturbances "having a very bad consequence on international peace."

The Arab rulers declared also for evacuation of British troops from Egypt and achievement of Egyptian sovereignty, and asserted that independence of Tripolitania and Cyrenaica must be achieved as "a natural matter of justice."

Huge Pile Of Data On Franco Regime Is Tackled By U. N.

New York, May 30 (AP) — The United Nations Security Council subcommittee investigating Franco Spain closed its books to further evidence tonight and tackled a huge pile of documents which might force it to report after tomorrow's deadline set by the council.

Supplementary reports submitted by the United States, Great Britain, and France must be checked and considered before the subcommittee can complete its report. The latest United States material alone contains a great volume of information plus 35,000 microfilmed pages of documents captured from German archives and Italian documents bearing on Spain.

The British report was said not to be so long but a French source declared its delegation's supplementary document was quite lengthy.

'Save Price Control' Is Written In Sky Over U. S. Capitol

Washington, May 30 (AP) — A message to Congress was written in the sky over the capitol today —"Save Price Control."

It was the first time that skywriting ever had been used for such a purpose, as far as capitol attaches could remember.

The plane was sent by the Pepsi-Cola company "as a public service", its statement said, "and because we are convinced that the message to our lawmakers reflects the wishes and opinion of the public."

HOLIDAY DEATH TOLL NOT HIGH

Traffic Mishaps Claim Lives Of 36, Only 14 Drowned

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's first postwar Memorial Day sent millions of Americans into the outdoors and to holiday events yesterday but a survey indicated comparatively few met death in accidents.

There were 36 killed in traffic mishaps, 14 drowned and 14 died in miscellaneous violence on the first day of a four-day week-end holiday, an unofficial nation-wide tabulation showed.

The National Safety Council estimated 329 persons would be killed in traffic during the four days, 57 of them on Memorial Day. This would be about ten per cent more than on an ordinary Thursday in May.

On Memorial Day, 1945, when gasoline rationing was in force, the traffic death toll was 28. There were 20 drownings.

Yesterday's fatality list by states:

California, 2 traffic, no drownings, 2 miscellaneous; Colorado, 1 0 1; Connecticut, 1 1 1; Florida, 0 5 0; Illinois, 1 0 0; Indiana, 3 0 0; Iowa, 1 0 0; Kentucky, 1 1 2; Massachusetts, 0 3 0; Michigan, 3 1 2; Minnesota, 3 0 1; Mississippi, 1 0 0; New Jersey, 1 0 1; New York, 1 0 0; Ohio, 4 0 1; Oregon, 1 0 0; Pennsylvania, 4 3 0; South Dakota, 2 0 0; Texas, 3 0 0; Utah, 1 0 1; Virginia, 1 0 0; Washington, 1 0 0; and Wisconsin, 0 0 2.

Racing Tires Made Of Natural Rubber, Little Synthetic

Indianapolis, May 30 (AP)—All racing tires in today's 500-mile International Sweepstakes were made of synthetic and natural rubber, with natural rubber predominating in the composition.

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, sole manufacturers of racing tires, said that the decision to use natural rubber was made in view of the fact that there has not been sufficient time for the individual drivers to obtain the preparatory experience on synthetic tires.

The tires were specially built for the punishing speeds of racing.

Winnipeg Scientist Exposed To Atomic Radiation Is Dead

Winnipeg, Man., May 30 (AP)—Dr. Louis Slotin, 36-year-old Winnipeg scientist exposed to radiation last week in the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic bomb laboratory, died today. The information was received here by his brother, S. Slotin.

Dr. Slotin was taken to an army hospital suffering from radiation disease. His parents flew there after the accident.

WORK TIEUPS SET INDUSTRY BACK 90 DAYS

FUEL STRIKE ALONE COSTS COUNTRY TWO BILLION

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, May 30. (AP)—Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small said tonight the soft coal strike and other work stoppages had set back the output of automobiles and other consumer goods by at least three months.

Also, Price Administrator Paul Porter declared in a statement that the 59-day mine strike was "extremely costly to the stabilization program." He said it had "delayed the time in a number of cases at which price ceilings can safely be removed."

Small estimated that the coal strike alone had cost the country close to $2,000,000,000 in lost production, "not counting the loss of wages to the million odd workers" it made idle.

The American economy "will bear the scars of the coal strike for many months to come," the CPA chief predicted in his monthly report on production.

Peaks Rearched In April

This gloomy note was in sharp contrast to the rest of the report, which told of record consumer goods production in April, before the full impact of the coal stoppage was felt.

Small said for some products—among them tires, men's suits, electric irons and vacuum cleaners—American industry last month surpassed peace-time records.

And postwar peaks were reached, he reported, in production of automobiles, trucks, women's hosiery, refrigerators, stoves, radios and sewing machines.

Why are consumer goods still so hard to find despite the fact they are as Small said, "being produced in greater quantity now than ever before in peacetime?"

His answer:

"The reason for the shortage of goods lies in the fortunate fact that consumers are in possession of large amounts of purchasing power, and that they are determined to use that purchasing power for the immediate satisfaction of their pent-up wants."

Labor Shortage Ahead

Dollar wise, manufacturers shipments in April were double the 1939 rate, Small said, while in terms of quantity they were at least 50 per cent greater.

Reporting that joblessness declined last month—again before the full impact of the coal strike—for the first time since Japan surrendered, Small said civilian employment rose to a record high of 54,600,000 persons early in April.

Noting that this is close to the 57,000,000 mark "defined in some quarters as fulll employment," Small predicted the country is likely to face a severe labor shortage in the closing months of this year."

Surveying some of the effects of the coal strike, Small said industries which suffered most include steel, railroads, utilities, chemicals, non-ferrous metals, automobiles, tires, farm machinery and building materials.

Baby Falls 45 Feet From Window, Dies In Detroit Hospital

Detroit, May 30 (AP)—A 15-months old child died in receiving hospital today after he fell 45 feet from the window of an apartment.

The child, John Segadi, was found by Patrolman Edward Pitts, who was walking past the apartment. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Eegadi, are separated and the baby's maternal grandmother had been caring for him.

"I bathed him and left the room," she told police. "After a while I asked my daughter to look at him and see if Johnny was all right. She couldn't find him. Then the officer rang our bell and told us what had happened."

The baby's father reached the hospital shortly before the child died.

Vote In Detroit's Primary To Be Near All-Time Record

Detroit, May 30 (AP)—Detroit's vote in the June 18 primary will be just short of an all-time record.

This was disclosed today as city officials announced that 808,457 persons had registered, just 9,600 short of the all-time mark set in the 1944 national election. The total, however, is greater than for any previous municipal primary.

Registrations for the primary closed last night. Veterans comprised most of the last-minute registrations, city officials said, but they added that additional thousands are still unregistered and will be ineligible to vote.

Operators Stunned By Huge Soft Coal Wage Concessions

Washington, May 30 (AP)—Bituminous coal operators, stunned by the government's concessions to John L. Lewis ending the 59-day old strike, remained silent tonight on their next move, but they estimated the pact would add at least $200,000,000 to annual mining costs.

"That certainly is a conservative figure," said two spokesmen for the industry. Based on a 35-cent increase per ton, and last year's 575,000,000-ton output, the cost would exceed 200 million dollars.

Government officials predicted a boost of 30 to 35 cents in prices.

Some operators say 35 cents is extremely conservative. For many operations the cost would be more than 60 cents a ton, they say. But officially, they were saying nothing.

Glumly gathered in a strategy session here, mine owners indicated they would wait for the ceiling price decision before making a new try for a contract with Lewis and for recovery of their government-held workings.

After a 90-minute closed caucus in a hotel suite, they decided against making any public statement on the agreement signed yesterday between Lewis and the government, which includes a $25,000,000 employer-financed welfare fund.

Privately, however, some echoed the opinion of John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, who declared the government pact with Lewis was "a defeat for the American people, who must foot the bill," and the forerunner of royalty demands in every other industry.

The price decision may take weeks, officials familiar with the federal stabilization machinery said, during which the 400,000 AFL United Mine Workers will work for Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug.

But the National Wage Stabilization Board is expected to approve tomorrow or Saturday the 18½ cent hourly wage increase and other concessions granted the UMW in the contract signed by Krug and Lewis in President Truman's office.

Chairman W. Willard Wirtz said the wage stabilization board met all yesterday afternoon, last night, and again today striving for a ruling on the soft coal contract.

One is expected, in any case, by the time the miners begin their mass march back to the pits on Monday. Partly because of today's holiday, UMW officials in Pittsburgh said normal production cannot be restored until next week.

Wirtz said it would be "quite inappropriate" for him to forecast whether wage approvaal will be given, but the signs were that the contract will be okayed in its essential details.

Stabilization Director Chester Bowles cannot approve a price increase until the wage board has acted, but his aides said he will wait—perhaps a month or more—for reports from the mine managers on their new costs of operation.

Officials who previously believed the price increase might be held to 25 or 30 cents a ton raised their estimates by 5 cents after seeing the full contract terms, including the 5-cents-a-ton levy on employers for a welfare fund and the new mine-safety provisions. A mine operators spokesman guessed yesterday that a 35 to 50 cent price boost will be needed.

MARITIME UNION DEMANDS GIVEN

Increases Ranging From 22 To 35 Cents An Hour Asked

Washington, May 30 (AP)—The seven Maritime Unions threatening a strike June 15 announced united wage increase demands today ranging from 22 to 35 cents an hour.

A spokesman for the operators said that they "go far beyond anything asked before."

For all longshoremen, the unions asked 35 cents. For seagoing workers, they demanded an increase of 22 cents for those now getting $140 a month, 27 cents for those earning $140 to $175, and 35 cents for those making more than $175.

The demands were announced in a statement by Joseph Curran and Harry Bridges as co-chairmen of a "committee for maritime unity." The committee is negotiating with the shipowners under government auspices.

In addition the unions asked a 40-hour week and eight-hour day for seafaring workers compared to a present work week ranging from 56 to 63 hours, and for overtime payments ranging from $1.25 to $1.75 an hour.

For longshoremen, overtime pay was demanded for Saturday work regardless of the number of hours previously worked during the week.

All increases, the unions demanded, should be retroactive to October 1, 1945, the date principal contracts expired.

The seamen now get a minimum of $140 a month, or roughly $35 a week, and work 56 to 63 hours a week.

Widow Falls With Kitchen Knife, Stabs Herself To Death

Grand Rapids, May 30. (AP)—A fall on a slippery floor while she was carrying a knife is believed to have caused the death of Mrs. Charles Ashton, 68, a widow whose body was found today in a welter of blood at her home here. She lived alone.

Roy A. Clark, a brother who discovered the tragedy, told Detectives Morey Butler and Dr. Alexander Martin, acting for the coroners, he entered the house with a key when he got no response on calling there this noon.

The detective quoted him as saying he found his sister dead with a knife in her hand.

It is his belief, the officer said, Mrs. Ashton stepped on a throw rug when she fell, having emerged from her kitchen into the dining room to answer the telephone.

Her throat had been pierced by the knife.

Revenue Collector Sues Ku Klux Klan For $685,305 Tax

Atlanta, May 30 (AP)—U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue Marion Allen filed suit against the Ku Klux Klan today to recover $685,305 in back income taxes the government charges is due.

The federal suit against the hooded order said the $685,305 covered funds allegedly due the government for the years 1921 through 1924, and for the year 1926. The complaint was filed in Fulton superior (state) court.

Meanwhile, Governor Ellis Arnall ordered the state attorney general to bring court action against the Klan "to revoke its charter in Georgia."

Labor Bills Put Truman On The Spot

BY FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, May 30 (AP) — The question whether there shall be new laws governing organized labor appeared tonight to hinge in large part on fresh strike developments, particularly the Maritime dispute.

The Senate will resume work tomorrow (11 a. m., EST), on the emergency measure, sought by President Truman, after removing by a top-heavy majority its most far reaching feature, the right to draft striking employes.

Meanwhile the president, pelted with advice from both sides, must make a decision within 10 days (Sundays excepted) on whether to sign the Case bill which sets up a new pattern for labor-management relationships.

Both measures have won the bitter condemnation of union leaders.

With the railroad and soft coal disputes out of the way, the nationwide Maritime strike, set for June 15, poses a big new problem. If it is settled, there will be strong pressure in the Senate to go slowly on the emergency bill, even to the extent of returning it to committee for hearings and possibly lengthy consideration.

Conversely, should the tie-up of America's merchant marine appear inevitable, the pressure on the president for signature of the Case bill undoubtedly would increase.

Senator George (D-Ga), one of the strongest backers of the Case bill, told a reporter that the railroad and coal strikes had not been the first crises to confront the country and that they wouldn't be the last. He said that he did not think it fair to assume Mr. Truman would veto the measure.

"It has many commendable features and is not a drastic piece of legislation, despite anything that has been said to the contrary," he asserted.

ESCANABA FOOD STORE ROBBED

Burglars Break Into Cashway, Get $268 And Cigarettes

About $268 in cash and a quantity of cigarettes were stolen sometime early yesterday afternoon from the Cash-Way store, 1018 Ludington street, by a burglar who gained entry to the food market by smashing a rear window.

City police officers were still checking on the robbery late last night. Arthur Messier, manager of the store, discovered the burglary about 7:30 o'clock last evening when making a routine check of the premises.

The thief or thieves spilled a carton of cigarettes leaving the store through the rear entrance, police officers said.

MINERS QUIT, CAN'T AGREE ON CONTRACT

DISPUTE TO MAKE 76,000 IDLE IN PENNSYLVANIA

New York, May 31 (Friday) (AP)—The midnight deadline for the strike of 76,000 miners in Pennsylvania's hard coal fields passed without agreement between operators and union leaders and there were no signs the walkout would be called off.

AFL leaders and anthracite operators conferred together three hours yesterday but finally broke up and set another meeting for 2 p. m. today in an effort to agree on a new contract.

John Boylan, secretary of the anthracite board of conciliation, who sat in on the final scheduled session before the old contract died, said he was authorized to make no announcement other than "No comment."

Picks Laid Down

The work stoppage technically began yesterday as miners laid down their picks for the Memorial Day holiday.

Negotiations had been in progress three weeks but the new contract had been discussed only in general terms and the miners had never presented concrete demands on wages and the welfare fund they seek.

Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of John L. Lewis' UMW, said yesterday after the bituminous coal strike had been settled that he would strive for an agreement patterned after the new soft coal contract.

Neither he nor J. B. Warriner, president of the Lehigh Navigation Coal company and operators' spokesman, would say, though, what progress along that line was made today.

Members of the operators' negotiating committee, who declined to be identified, said last night they objected to this yardstick, however, because higher operating costs in hard coal mining could not be passed on to the consumer as readily as in the bituminous industry.

Shorter Week Sought

Anthracite, they pointed out, is used mainly for domestic heating purposes and must meet the competition of fuel oil.

The anthracite miners are seeking, broadly, a reduction in their 42-hour, six day work week (It was a five-day, 35-hour week before the war), an increase in wage rates, establishment of a health and welfare fund, adjustment of vacation, holiday, overtime and severance compensation, observance of occupational disease laws and UMW membership for mine supervisors.

Unlike the soft coal negotiations, the government had not taken over the anthracite mines and no government arbiters have participated in the meetings.

It was not certain whether Lewis, who usually takes a leading role in the annual negotiations, would be present for tomorrow's meeting.

Today's session was attended by only three men from each side but spokesmen emphasized that they had full authority to draw up a new contract if they had come to terms.

Chinese Communists Retake Steel City

Mukden, Manchuria, May 30 (AP)—Chinese Communists have recaptured the South Manchurian steel city of Anshan and are erecting a tough defense line in front of Harbin, government dispatches reported today as China's hopes for peace ebbed again.

Generallissimo Chiang Kai-shek and two of his top government generals flew from Mukden to Changchun, Manchurian capital recently reoccupied by the government after five weeks in Communist hands.

The generalissimo had been in Mukden for several days while inconclusive peace efforts continued in Nanking under the prod of General Marshall, special American envoy to China.

Fielding H. Yost, Suffers Stroke, In Serious Condition

Battle Creek, Mich., May 30. (AP)—Fielding Harris (Hurry Up) Yost, University of Michigan's grand old man of football, was reported in serious condition today in Battle Creek sanitarium.

Yost was admitted to the sanitarium May 14 after he suffered a stroke. The previous day he had brought his wife to the sanitarium for a rest and to visit his brother, Ellis, a patient who since has left.

The former Michigan coach and athletic director recently celebrated his 75th birthday.

Former Prosecutor To Tell About Grand Jury Expenses

Lansing, May 30. (AP) — Kim Sigler, former special grand jury prosecutor, said tonight he would appear Friday (1:30 p. m.) before the senate committee investigating expenses of the Ingham county graft grand jury.

Sigler, who received the committee's request when he returned to his Detroit headquarters today after a campaign tour through the Upper Peninsula, said he would "insist upon an open session."

The Republican gubernatorial candidate said he would refuse to answer any questions asked by the committee behind closed doors about grand jury expenses.

It will mark Sigler's first appearance before the committee which has charged irregular uses of expenses while Sigler was prosecutor. These charges were said to be the indirect cause of Sigler's removal as special prosecutor.

Circuit Court Judge Louis E. Coash, the current one-man grand jury, and several other jury attaches have appeared before the committee.

Sigler has maintained throughout his campaign that the committee never sought his explanation of the expenditures it criticized.

Committee members are Senators Ivan Johnston, Mt. Clemens Republican, chairman; Robert J. McDonald, Flint Democrat and Harold Tripp, Allegan Republican.

HONOR DEAD BY RIGHT LIVING

Rev. Gustav Lund Makes Plea In Memorial Day Address

The only real answer to the question of how to properly honor the dead is how you live, "and the fact is that unless we in every generation learn how to use our liberty, it will be taken away from us," said Rev. Gustav Lund, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church, in a stirring, thought provoking Memorial Day address yesterday morning at services in the city park.

Rev. Lund was the principal speaker on the program held following the Ludington street parade.

In his short talk, Rev. Lund spoke of the premature optimism that prevailed in the world after the signing of the peace treaty of World War I and yet "only twenty years later some sons mingled their ashes with the dust of fathers they never saw." But despite that and despite the disorder in the world today mankind must be hopeful, he said, "for we honor those who died, the best, if we too learn the lesson they learned in facing the worst life can offer: they were still hopeful! And let us be hopeful, too, as we face an uncertain atomic age."

Rituals of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Legion Auxiliary and water services by the V. F. W. Auxiliary were conducted during the program and a roll call of the Delta county men who died for their country in World War II was read as part of the solemn services yesterday.

A large crowd took part in the program.

Virtually all Escanaba stores, plants, and government offices were closed for the Memorial Day holiday.

Former WAC Places Memorial Wreath On Monument Thursday

Munising—Mrs. Eva Freese, former Air Corps WAC, daughter of Arthur LaFlamme, placed the wreath at the base of the monument honoring war dead in American Legion ceremonies held on Thursday morning at Maple Grove cemetery, Munising.

Mrs. Freese, the former Eva LaFlamme, had a personal reason to place the wreath honoring the war dead. Her husband, Theodore Freeze, of Los Angeles, Calif., was killed while on duty in India a year ago in April, 1945. He was a photographer with a heavy bombardment group.

Dr. Albert Burrows, professor of history at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, gave the Memorial Day address, quoting at length Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and reciting the poem, "In Flanders Field" and also the answer with the poem written for World War II.

Miss Dawn Frazier recited the poem "Memorial Day" and William Dore read the list of Alger county war dead of both World Wars.

The three-volley salute was given after which taps, with echo, were sounded.

It was estimated Thursday's celebration had the largest attendance yet recorded in Munising. Well over 250 cars made the trip to Maple Grove cemetery for the program at the American Legion plot.

Murder At Movies Puzzles Police In Bristol, England

Bristol, England, May 30 (AP) — A mysterious murder at the movies puzzled police tonight as they sought the person who shot R. M. Parrington Jackson, 35, former Hollywood extra and British naval officer, in the office of his theater here last night.

Jackson was found by an usher after a theater patron telephoned police and reported the manager had been shot. He was sprawled on the floor. He died early today without regaining consciousness.

TRAIN SERVICE RESTORED HERE

2 C&NW Trains Go On Again Today After Coal Strike Ends

The lifting of an Office of Defense Transportation restriction for the conservation of coal during the coal strike emergency has been lifted and Chicago & Northwestern Train No. 121 and No. 224 operating between Green Bay and Escanaba will resume their schedule today, it was announced yesterday by T. M. Cassidy, Escanaba, Peninsula Division superintendent.

In compliance with an ODT order the trains were removed from service May 10. Settlement of the coal strike now permits restoration of the trains.

Train No. 121 will arrive in Escanaba this morning from Green Bay, and Train No. 224 will leave Escanaba at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for Green Bay.

The trains carry passengers, mail and express. They were put on the run to Escanaba about three years ago when this service was extended northward from Menominee. Until that time Menominee had been the northern terminal for the trains.

Much Soot Dirt Is Eliminated By Use Of City's New Stoker

First few days of operation of the new stoker at the municipal steam plant indicates that much of the smoke and soot nuisance the plant has been blamed for, will be eliminated by use of the new equipment.

Operation of the stoker, only one of a number of pieces of new equipment the plant expects to have installed by next winter, has been "most saitsfactory."

Hardly any fly ash from the plant has been visible except when the grates are shaken, twice in every eight-hour period.

The new stoker is being used on the plant's small boiler, which carries the steam utility summer "load."

Young Spectator Gives Impressions Of Parade Here

"Dad took me downtown yesterday morning to see the Memorial Day parade and it was pretty nice, I guess. I haven't seen very many parades. The men in blue uniforms carrying the flags were Legionnaires, my dad said. They were the color guard. Dick wasn't exactly in the parade but he was there on his bike ahead of all the rest. Dick is my pal. My dad said it looked like there were more World War I vets in the parade than boys from the last war but that's mostly because the younger veterans haven't been back long enough. They still remember about marching and drilling too well, my dad said, and they don't like thinking about it.

"I heard a man say 'Those guys are out of uniform,' when a couple of the men not dressed up like the others went by but my dad said it didn't make no (I think he meant any) difference about uniforms. A lot of good men die in wars with mixed uniforms on, my dad said. You can get killed in a war whether you have the right uniform or not, he said. He sounded kinda mad. I think he hates not being a veteran himself.

"There were a lot of kids in the parade too and the city band and all. The Boy Scouts and Blue Bird girls and a lot more. I liked the high school band but they would have looked nicer in uniforms. Funny, my dad said, they had uniforms a couple of months ago.

"We went down to the park afterward and my dad tried to explain about the rituals and ceremonies for the dead soldiers and sailors but he didn't know all about 'em and I didn't let on. Memorial Day is supposed to be in honor of the dead. It began 78 years ago, after the Civil War. I read that in school. Funny too, it was a German soldier who fought for the Union in the Civil War who first thought about honoring our soldiers like they did in Germany. My dad said it didn't matter who thought of it, if they close up shop all over and have a special day to remember the men who didn't come back from the wars, people ought to take part in it. But human nature is human nature. You can't drag people out, my dad said. I guess he thought there should have been a bigger crowd but it looked pretty big to me. But I'm only nine."

Some More Inflation

THE coal mine strike has been settled with a substantial wage increase for the miners, plus other benefits that the union demanded. The terms of the settlement constitute a clean cut victory for the union, which has received just about everything it sought except complete control of the health and welfare fund which will be created under the contract.

The new coal contract will mean another price increase in coal, estimated at 35 cents to 50 cents per ton at the retail level.

Along with the boost in coal prices is a new upward revision of the price schedule for dairy products. The cost of fluid milk will rise a cent a quart in a few days, butter will jump 11 cents a pound and cheddar cheese will be boosted about 6 cents a pound.

These sharp increases all take another vicious cut out of consumers' pocketbooks and the worst of it is that the cost of living has not yet levelled off. Further pokes at the public are in the offing.

The boost in the price of butter was, of course, inevitable as the only choice was highere prices or no butter. The established ceiling price on butter was so far out of line in relation to other dairy products that producers diverted their cream to other markets.

The rising cost of living and the increased inflationary pressures are the penalty the American public is paying and will continue to pay for the shortsighted policy of the national administration in advocating and promoting large pay boosts after V-J day.

Obviously some concerted effort will have to be made soon to freeze the price level, or we will be faced once more with another wave of strikes as disastrous as those from which the nation has just emerged. Workers who find that their larger paychecks are being entirely dissipated by skyrocketing prices will be right back with new demands for higher wages.

We are already well along the scale of the inflationary spiral. The big question now is whether we can stop it before it engulfs our whole economic life.

Just A Weed Again

THE milkweed plant, which did yeoman service during the war, is just a lowly weed again.

When the Japs captured the Netherland Indies, America's source of kapok was cut off, just at a time when this buoyant material was needed more than ever for life jackets for merchant seamen and naval fliers. Dr. Boris Berkman of Chicago, who had made an extensive study of milkweed for its possible uses, then convinced the government that its floss could be used as a substitute for kapok.

A nation-wide collection of milkweed pods was instituted, and the government set up a processing plant at Petoskey, utilizing machinery developed by Dr. Berkman. Pods were shipped to Petoskey by the trainload, and the processing plant was operated for a couple years, furnishing employment to about a hundred persons.

Dr. Berkman had hopes of continuing the processing of milkweed floss as a substitute for kapok as a filler for pillows, furniture and clothing. He also intended to utilize the podshells for plastics, paint oils and other products. Apparently, this dream did not come true, for announcement has been made that the War Assets corporation has sold the Petoskey plant to a Detroit concern, which will produce fiber board.

Federal Payrolls

ABOUT 1,000,000 federal employes are to have their pay raised 14 per cent or about $250 each year, which will be an additional cost to taxpayers of more than 320 million dollars.

There are two exceptions. No one's salary can be raised above $10,000, and lower bracket pay will be increased up to 25 per cent. The bill embodying the above is ready to go before the senate. However, there is additional provision in it to absorb 75 per cent of the increase by eventual reduction of the present 2,400,000 workers to 1,600,000. In other words, taxpayers will carry ultimately only a small increase, and individual workers remaining on federal lists will be paid more adequately.

The catch in the whole program is the world "ultimately". It is always hard to shrink a payroll whether government's or private industry's. But federal employes must be lessened. The American people cannot go on forever paying salaries to an astronomical number of government workers.

Rights and Duties

HAROLD STASSEN said something in a speech the other day about the need in this country for "an increased sense of duty to produce, to keep pace with the right to consume, whether through profits or wages, (and) of an increased sense of duty to work to parallel the right to strike."

Probably that isn't the most popular tack to take in discussing present-day economics. It's old-fashioned talk, and some would call it reactionary. But it seems rather nice to hear somebody bring up again the all-but-forgotten relationship of rights to duties.

We hear a great deal today about the rights of free speech, free assembly, and free enterprise, the rights to work and bargain collectively and earn a decent wage. But it seems a long time since much has been said about the duty of doing what used to be called "an honest day's work" for that decent wage, or of turning out the best possible product for a fair and decent profit. At least, it hasn't been said recently by representatives of large groups of workers or manufacturers.

Maybe it is because times and the national economy have changed. There are proportionately fewer self-employed persons than in grandfather's or father's day. Consequently, there is less direct incentive and less opportunity to experience the joy of personal accomplishment in the course of earning the daily bread.

The incentives and joys are by no means absent today. But there is an increasing number of workers swallowed up in big corporations, doing routine jobs of deadly sameness. Grievances, demonstrations, and strife may offer the only touches of drama in a life of occupational drabness.

Then, too, there are the workers' unions, which must produce results in order to survive and grow. And as the unions have grown strong they have emphasized an ever-growing list of workers' rights—most of them right and proper, to be sure—while soft-pedaling the parallel duties.

So we hear of unions disciplining members who, yielding to personal incentives, work too fast, produce too much, and thereby set an "exhausting" example for their fellows. We hear of requests for the same wages for 40 hours' work as were recently paid for 40 hours plus 14 more at extra pay. We hear talk of 30-hour weeks at 40-hour wages.

And maybe that is all to the good. This country has come a long way from the 60-hour week, dingy workshops, child labor, and starvation wages, and it can go farther. But progress is smoothest in a friendly, reasonable atmosphere. And that is not present when duties are forgotten and rights exaggerated. Instead, there is created an atmosphere which fosters selfishness, breeds disunity, and eventually stalls progress.

Mr. Stassen seems wise in asking that we pay a little more attention in our thinking to a reasonable balance between effort and compensation. Otherwise, there is danger that a sizable segment of a new generation might have to unlearn rather painfully the notion that society owes them a living which they feel no particular obligation to earn.

Indiana Novelist

THE late Booth Tarkington never quite realized his earliest promise. He was a discovery of that genius of magazine editors, S. S. McClure, and burst on the literary scene in 1899 like a refreshing breeze from Indiana. This state, with its James Whitcomb Riley, George Ade, Meredith Nicholson and others, came near being the literary capital of the United States. Tarkington was fully worthy to enter this group.

"The Gentleman from Indiana", his first novel, is still outstanding among his books, with its genuine flavor of the small town. Later he wrote by preference about sophisticated city dwellers. This perhaps reflected his own rise in the scale of prosperity. "The Magnificent Ambersons" and "Alice Adams" won him the Pulitzer prize for fiction.

With all his easy competence he seemed rarely to get below the surface. Although Sinclair Lewis has written many poor books, on the other hand Tarkington never attained the keen analysis of "Main Street" or "Babbitt."

Fame is a curious thing. It is just possible that Tarkington's more ambitious writing will be outlived in popular affection by the stories of boyhood life which he tossed off rather lightly. Penrod and Sam are likely to be remembered longer than Alice Adams.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?
(Scrapbook Item)

Q. How did the foreign-sounding word "cafeteria" get into our speech? There is a Spanish word "cafetera," meaning "coffeepot." Is there any connection?—W. A. S.

A. Let's start with the original Arabic word qahwah, "a decoction of berries." This became the Turkish qahveh, which became the Italian caffe, which became the French and Spanish cafe and the English coffee.

Now, in French and Spanish, cafe means "coffee," and, by extension, a place where coffee (and other beverages) is served. For example, the famous sidewalk cafes of Paris are not restaurants—they serve drinks only: coffee, beer, wine, etc.

The French word cafetiere, "coffeepot," entered Spanish as cafetera, "a coffeepot: a woman who gathers coffee berries; a woman who makes and serves coffee." (Are you still with me?)

In Spanish, the suffix -ria corresponds to the English -ry, "a place where something is done or made," as in bakery, winery, factory. In American Spanish, then, the word cafeteria evolved and took on the meaning, "a coffee shop," and is pronounced: kah-fay-tay-REE-ah.

The American self-serve restaurant is said to date from about 1885. But it is believed that the self-serve idea as we know it was introduced by a Miss H. S. Mosher in Los Angeles in May, 1905. The idea caught on quickly and spread throughout the country.

It is uncertain, however, why the name cafeteria was chosen, for the self-serve restaurants were never coffe-shops. Whoever it was that first used the term cafeteria apparently knew little or no Spanish.

Therefore, cafeteria, "a self-serve restaurant," has become a strictly American word with a strictly American meaning and pronunciation. The accent has shifted from the fourth to the third syllable, which rhymes with beer, thus: KAF-uh-TEER'ee-uh.

Our lovably loony language is like that.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Colleagues of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg are trying to persuade him that he must go back to Paris when the foreign ministers meet again on June 15 in a second effort to come to terms with Russia on the peace.

Childs

They argue that Vandenberg's presence is necessary to insure against any weakening compromise. They look to him for assurance that this country will stand on "principle."

In the cloak-room talks, this word principle is frequently heard. Vandenberg himself often employs it. The senator from Michigan has made no secret of his satisfaction over what he believes was the only real achievement of the Paris conference. That, as Vandenberg sees it, was the solidification of an American policy around the principles which America has always stood for.

This was the theme of Vandenberg's brief speech approving the report made by Secretary of State Byrnes on the Paris stalement. The two men were in complete harmony throughout the conference. Now Van's senatorial friends want to be sure that he will stand behind the secretary again.

—VANDENBERG SEEKS REELECTION—

But Vandenberg is up for reelection this fall. He protests that his constituents will not understand it if he spends so much time abroad. He insists that he must go back home and find out what people are thinking.

"Listen, Van," one of his senate friends said the other day, "you won't have to make any campaign. Pravda is making your campaign for you."

This was a reference to the frequent blasts directed against Vandenberg by the Moscow paper, Pravda, and by the Moscow propaganda radio. After the Paris stalemate, most of Moscow's propaganda guns were turned, not on Byrnes but on the Republican who had stood at his side. Statisticians in these matters say that only one other world figure—Pope Pius VII—has received such concentrated attention.

As far as Vandenberg's re-election is concerned, it should be a walkaway, even if he spent the entire time between June 15 and November 5 in Paris. He has no opposition in the primary on June 18. The Democrat who seems likely to oppose him is James Lee, who can hardly be rated a formidable opponent. Lee, assistant corporation counsel in Detroit, began his career as the "boy orator" of the Michigan legislature in 1910.

—FEAR SOVIET DOMINATION—

Those who are urging Vandenberg to return to Paris believe that only by presenting an unyielding front in the face of Russia's demands will a decent peace eventually be achieved. They say that "appeasement" is certain to lead to new demands and that the end would be a world completely dominated by the Soviet Union.

In the light of Foreign Minister Molotov's statement in Pravda this week, it is hard to see how the two sides can ever come together across the terrible divide that is beginning to separate the world. Molotov took a line even more uncompromising than Byrnes' in his report. He insisted that all details of the peace be agreed to among the Big Four before a 21-nation peace conference is called. This is the exact opposite of the stand taken by Byrnes with Vandenberg's support. It seems to leave no loophole for an acceptable compromise. So we drift toward catastrophe.

All the evidence reaching Russia's policy makers tends to confirm their conviction that democracy is hopelessly entangled in its own contradictions and confusions. Those who have some knowledge of the trend of Soviet intelligence out of the United States say that the Kremlin is constantly being told we cannot resolve our internal conflicts short of a breakdown.

Naturally, the masters of the Kremlin welcome such news. It encourages them to believe that they can ignore the American point of view since it will not be backed up by power. This is the same mistake made by the Nazis and the Japs, who discovered the truth only after Pearl Harbor.

In Paris, Vandenberg learned with what intense concentration the world is watching our every move. The progress of the British loan through the senate was a matter of immediate concern to all of Europe. As Vandenberg put it on his return, if the loan had not passed, the conference could have folded up right then and there.

Despite his statement that he would not return, the probability is that the senator from Michigan will go back to Paris. Yet neither Vandenberg nor Byrnes will go with very much hope.

CITY ORDINANCES — Most people know when they are violating the law, but not always. Especially is this true of city ordinances, which are law but in many cases unfamiliar to residents of the city of Escanaba.

Dunathan

Did you know, for example, that you could be arrested for operating apparatus which interferes with radio reception? And if you are convicted of violating the law you can be fined a maximum of $50, or imprisoned for a maximum of 30 days, and pay the costs of prosecution?

The ordinance also provides that the city council may make appropriations from the current expense fund necessary to hire an investigator who will seek out those persons who have machinery causing radio interference. This investigator's duty is to make out a complaint against such persons so they may be arrested and prosecuted.

* * *

LOCK YOUR CAR — Perhaps you didn't know this either—but the city ordinance dealing with the regulation of vehicles says that your car must be locked when you leave it parked at the curb. This applies only to non-commercial vehicles. Purpose of the regulation, of course, is to keep someone from stealing your car. If you don't lock it, however, and it is stolen, your failure "does not mitigate the offense of stealing the same."

The section on traffic regulations also prohibits car drivers from turning around any place on Ludington street, or at any intersection on any other street. This is one of the most frequently violated of the city's traffic laws.

And when you drive downtown with your horse and buggy and want to park, turn the horse in the direction traffic is proceeding, with the horse's head at right angle to the vehicle. You can hold the oat burner's head while your wife shops.

* * *

KEEP AWAY—"All vehicles upon the approach of fire apparatus or driven by peace officers, upon the sounding of warning signal of such vehicles, shall take such precautions to clear the street so as not to interfere with the passage of such vehicles, and shall not closely follow such vehicles."

* * *

NO JOKE, SON—Escanaba boys and girls who throw stones, use sling shots, or play baseball or football on the street, don't know it but they are violating the law. It says so right in the city ordinances. There's a $10 fine or 10 days in the clink for those arrested, prosecuted and convicted of such violations.

* * *

STILL ON THE BOOK—As antiquated as a 1920 batch of home brew is the city ordinance prohibiting "marathon dances, walkathons, skatathons, or similar endurance contests." You remember, however, the stir such events caused back in the empty-headed days when slick chick was a flapper, and hemlines of ladies' frocks were going up and down with amazing irregularity. Youth was hitting the downward path in those days, it seems, and had to be legally restrained from dancing, walking or skating themselves into early graves. Odd, isn't it, that so many of them are today's mothers and fathers.

* * *

IT'S AN OLD ONE—Back in September, 1920, which is 26 years ago by simple arithmetic, the Escanaba city council adopted an ordinance prohibiting the sale or shooting of all types of fireworks and explosive noisemakers. Youngsters of today who wish longingly for the god old days that father talks about, usually do so on the Fourth of July, when they would like the same opportunity for noise-making that he had.

The eye-puncturing, finger-fracturing, skin-burning instruments of those days are recalled in the ordinance prohibiting their use—fireworks, torpedoes, canon firecrackers, giant firecrackers, dynamite caps, dynamite bombs, dynamite canes, blank cartridges "and other high explosives of dangerous character."

* * *

GAMBLING: EVERY SPECIE—The recent tizzy of the city council following a story on gambling in Escanaba, as published in a Detroit newspaper, was excusable. Back in 1914, if a historian but knew, there was probably a similar furore. At any rate an ordinance was adopted to "prohibit and suppress every specie of gambling" and authorizing the seizure and destruction of all devices used for gaming. The ordinance mentions dice, cards and slot machines by name, but perhaps there were no bingo cards back in 1914. Last report following the Detroit newspaper reporter's expose of gambling in Escanaba was the council was requesting an opinion from the attorney general.

* * *

THOSE SIDEWALKS — Here is what you cannot legally do to the sidewalks in the city of Escanaba:

Run, drive or propel any vehicle on them, except a baby carriage.

Permit snow, ice or accumulations of other materials on them.

Do any writing or printing on them with chalk or paint.

Throw any banana or orange peelings on them, or to spit on the sidewalks or in any public place.

Q. What will be the discharge schedule June 1 for Marine Corps personnel?

A. Twenty-eight points for men; four for women.

Q. I intend to reenlist in the Regular Army within the next few days. I was discharged last week and would like to know if I would retain my old rating.

A. The rating you held at the time of separation from service will be given you.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Q. Is there more or less of salt in every spring, river or lake?

A. The saline condition of sea water is but an exaggeration of that all ordinary lakes, rivers and springs; they all contain more or less of salt, but their contents are continually changing and discharging themselves into the sea; therefore the salt does not accumulate.

Q. Can gift packages enter Canada free of duty?

A. Duty-free entry of gifts, excluding advertising matter, tobacco, alcoholic beverages, or merchandise for sale, sent or taken to friends, where the value does not exceed $5 Canadian (about $4.45 in United States money) in any one case, is authorized by Canadian tariff laws.

Q. Why did President Hoover propose a moratorium on the debts of foreign countries to the United States for the fiscal year 1932?

A. Because it was evident that if the economic structure of Germany was to be saved, some temporary postponement of payments due to foreign countries from Germany would have to be arranged. The moratorium carried the provision that the important creditor nations would take similar action with respect to reparations and international debts due them.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Top administration leaders were split wide open over the loan to France during a secret and significant meeting of the national advisory council.

Present were Secretary of the Treasury Vinson, chairman; assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton, Secretaary of Commerce Henry Wallace, chairman Marriner Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board, and William McChesney Martin, head of the Export-Import Bank.

Pearson

Clayton teed off by proposing that the council approve the $650,000,000 loan. Secretary Wallace said he approved but wanted the record to show that he supported the French loan for economic and not for political purposes.

"I want the record to show," countered chairman Vinson, "that I favor the loan for good and sufficient reasons, both economic and political."

Up to this point, the meeting was mild. Clayton casually announced that he had checked into the legality of the present French government and that it was capable of accepting and repaying the loan regardless of what happened in the June 2 elections. This gave federal reserve board chairman Eccles his opening.

"This loan should be considered on economic grounds and economic grounds only," he said with vigor. "Naturally, our government is interested in political activity in other countries. But, I should very much dislike to have our government accused of undertaking to buy a foreign election. That's the very thing we attacked the Russians for."

Eccles then proposed that the loan be held off until after the French election so as not to appear a coercive measure.

"There are political considerations in every loan," observed Vinson.

"We're concerned with getting countries back on their feet," Eccles shot back, 'rather than as to whether the government is Socialist, Communist or a Capitalistic democracy."

—CHINESE POLITICS AND U. S. MONEY—

At this point Henry Wallace spoke out and said it would be unfortunate if it leaked out to the French people that the United States had any major political considerations in mind in making its loan This brought a rejoinder from Secretary Vinson.

"The half-billion dollar loan to China was a political loan and we made it on the basis of General Marshall's plea."

"If I had been present," Wallace snapped back, "I would have voted against the China loan."

At this point, the banker from Utah, Marriner Eccles, jumped into the fray again.

"I think it would be very unfortunate," he said, "to make a loan just before an election in order to influence it. Besides, there would be no assurance that it would work out that way. The French might resent the fact that we were trying to influence the election. We learned that lesson the hard way in Latin America."

Then, looking at assistant Secretary of State Clayton, formerly the world's largest cotton broker, Eccles concluded:

"Suppose the election goes wrong? Would we still give it?"

Clayton beat around the bush a moment, but said that the United States probably would still approve some kind of a loan though with more strings attached.

Eccles then moved that the loan be held up until after the election. However, Clayton, having in mind a promise the State Department had already made to the French government, protested.

"We've stalled on this for six weeks already," Clayton said. "We can't stall any longer."

Eccles then moved that the French loan be scaled down to $500,000,000, but was over-ruled.

In the end, the committee approved the entire $650,000,000 credit from the Export-Import Bank, with some side adjustments regarding lend-lease.

—RANKIN WANTS COUNSEL SWITCH—

Now that Mississippi's rootin-tootin' congressman John Rankin has $75,000 to spend for his un-American activities committee, he is anxious to ditch committee counsel Ernie Adamson. Adamson is the gentleman who aroused public attention when he went on record as against democracy.

"I'm moving heaven, hell and high water," Congressman Rankin told a friend the other day, "to get Bob Stripling out of the army. I need him. Adamson has put us in a jam. Stripling is more discreet and his mouth isn't as big as Adamson's."

Robert Stripling, the man Rankin wants to get out of the army, for a long time was counsel to the Dies committee, and has the unique reputation of being one of the most deferred gentlemen ever to work on Capitol Hill.

For a long time the Dies committee got Stripling deferred as an essential worker. Finally, in August 1944, his Virginia draft board decided he wasn't so essential after all, and put him in 1-A. However, three times congressmen intervened to prevent his induction. But finally the army caught him. He got in shortly before the end of the war with Germany, and now Congressman Rankin is pulling all sorts of wires to get him out.

RECENT BRIDE — At a wedding which took place at St. Joseph's church, Miss Phyllis Dubois became the bride of Douglas Spade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Spade, 1405 Lake Shore Drive. The couple will reside on Ford River Road. (Selkirk Photo.)

Phyllis Dubois, Douglas P. Spade Are Wed Recently

St. Joseph's church was the scene of a May wedding which united in marriage Miss Phyllis Harriet Dubois and Douglas Paul Spade. The couple exchanged vows before the Rev. Fr. Alphonse.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, John Williams, wore an attractive wedding gown fashioned from a white nylon parachute which her fiance sent to her while he was overseas. The bodice of the gown was styled with lace inserts forming a sweetheart neckline, and she wore a long lace-edged veil which was held in place by a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book adorned with a white orchid and streamers tied with white sweet peas. Her jewelry was a double strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Martha Gehringer was maid of honor, and Miss Helen Spade was the bridesmaid. They wore similar pink gowns styled with net skirts, and matching shoulder length veils and net mittens. Their bouquets of gladioli, snapdragons and roses were tied with large bows of orchid satin ribbon.

Bonnie Williams, the flower girl, wore an orchid dress with a net skirt, and matching bonnet and mittens. She carried gladioli, snapdragons and roses, tied with a pink satin bow.

Walter Lenis was best man, and Daniel Weissert was the usher.

Following the ceremony, dinner was served to 24 guests at the Chicken Shack, and 100 guests attended a reception in the afternoon at 411 First Avenue south.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Spade are making their home on the Ford River Road.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Spade, 1405 Lake Shore Drive, received his discharge from the Navy in December, after four years service. The bride was formerly employed by the U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago.

Among those from out of town who attended the wedding were Miss Helen Spade of Milwaukee, Mrs. Carl Jones of Rockford, Ill., and many guests from Ford River and Wells.

War Dead Honored At Memorial Day Service

The suggestion that we establish a living monument to our war dead, predicated on the four freedoms, was made by the Rev. J. Fred Young, pastor of Bethel Free church, in an address at Memorial Day services in Fernwood cemetery yesterday morning.

The annual service was again arranged by August Mattson Post, No. 71, American Legion.

As usual a short parade, in which many ex-servicemen, Legionnaires, Boy Scouts and the High School Band marched, preceded the service.

At the cemetery the band played the Star Spangled Banner during a flag raising ceremony followed by the invocation, band selections, an appropriate reading by Audrey Buchmiller, Rev. Young's stirring speech, the roll call of local veterans who died during World War II by O'Neil D'Amour commander of August Mattson Post, a selection by the girls' double sextet, a salute to the dead by a firing squad in charge of Sylvester Schram and sounding of taps by Warren Peterson and Charles Green.

Rev. Young in his introduction referred to the sinking of the SS Zam Zam (he was one of a group of missionaries abroad) by a German raider in April 1941 in the South Atlantic and told of what a thrill he received to see an auto bearing the American flag on each fender come down the street after the passengers of the Zam Zam were landed at Biarritz, France.

Now that the war is over we settle back into our complacent and indifferent life, careless of the very things which we are privileged to keep at the price of thousands of our boys, he said.

"Today, we observe Memorial Day," he continued, "the first since the war. Then, our fervor ran high. Today is little more than tepid. Today we parade and listen to speeches which will be forgotten tomorrow. We remind ourselves of our dead today—forget them tomorrow.

"This should be a day of reflection, of taking inventory of what we have, how we are going to keep it, preserve it. What does memorial day mean to us? Is a ceremony a fitting memorial to our war dead?

"By making this day a day of dedication to the principles for which our boys fought, we can erect a more fitting and lasting monument that that of wood or stone. Our nation will stand as a monument to their deaths—if we keep vigilant watch over those cherished rights which our boys have entrusted to us.

"By establishing, perpetuating and preserving the four freedoms in America, we can erect a memorial that will outlast time itself. We will not be forgetful, either, if we set ourselves to the task of fulfilling those things which have been given to us by those of our nation who died that we might have them."

Even now these four freedoms are being threatened, the speaker said. It is an axiomatic fact that we really have only that which we use. Therefore, unless we use these four freedoms which are our God-given right, we shall lose them, he pointed out.

Some persons today do not appreciate the last freedom mentioned, the freedom of religion. "It would appear that they want freedom from religion instead. How long will be enjoy freedom of religion when we ignore God and the churches which represent him here on earth?

"As we observe history, we discover that the nations which have sought to live apart from God have faded into insignificance. Egypt, at one time one of the most powerful nations of the world, is today insignificant because of her rejection of God," the speaker said. "We in America owe our blessed freedom, our bounteous plenty, to the mercy and blessing of God. Let us not ignore Him, or seek to live apart from Him.

"Then as we seek to establish and to preserve the way of living we have always known, and which is the best way of life, we shall continue to enjoy the blessings of God.

"What more fitting memorial could we erect to our dead than a nation that is preserved in the principles which we feel are worthy of fighting for—and living for?" Rev. Young asked in closing.

Arrangements for the service were made by a committee composed of George Peoples, H. J. Skogquist, Dwyer Mackin, Sylvester Schram, Owen Longberry, Ray Louis and Robert Hupy.

MRS. NORTON HEAD OF CLUB

Annual Reports Indicate Successful Year In 1945-46

Mrs. John C. Norton was elected president of the Child's Welfare club at the annual business meeting and springtime tea held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. R. Venne, 621 Michigan avenue. She succeeds Mrs. C. B. Fitzpatrick to the office.

Mrs. W. C. Cameron was named first vice president, Mrs. Lorraine Murphy second vice president, Mrs. F. S. Patton, secretary and Mrs. Helmer Henrikson, treasurer.

Named to the board of directors are W. C. Cameron, chairman, William Marble, J. D. McDonald, J. D. Staple, James T. Jones, Dr. A. H. Miller, Dr. O. S. Hult, Dr. J. A. Diamond and the Mmes. J. P. Bushong, J. T. Jones, J. D. Staple, G. R. Empson and C. B. Fitzpatrick.

A pleasing program was presented during the tea. "I Love Thee" and "The Lost Chord" were sung by Mary Waznick accompanied by Joanne McMillan, "Going My Way" and "American Prayer" were sung by Irving R. Johns, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Olson, jr., and Mrs. Olson played two solos, Rachmaninoff's "Prelude" and a waltz by Chopin.

That the club enjoyed a successful year was indicated by the annual statement presented by Mrs. A. H. Kinmond, treasurer. Expenditures totaled nearly a thousand dollars. Principal expenditure was for the relief milk in the amount of $457.26. Purchase of children's library books, authorized from the Hancock Memorial Fund, came to $260.71, and contributions were made to the Interlochen Music camp, the U of M Extension service and the Crippled Children's Fund. The club also sponsored a girl Scout troop during the past year and purchased a table and chairs for a recreation room at the Pinecrest Sanatorium.

The Christmas Seal Sale was again very successful, a total of $389 have been received. Disbursements from this fund totaled $406.10. However, a good balance remains in the fund as is the case in three other funds of the Welfare Club.

A report on the Crippled Children's Seal sale was not presented as the final returns from the county headquarters have not been received here.

The name "vaudeville" came from the invasion area of Normandy. An ancient miller, Olivier Basselin, made the valley of Vaux de Vire famous with his entertaining songs, and from this name the corrupted term 'vaudeville" arose.

TRIBUTE PAID SOLDIER DEAD

Alert Citizenry Best Insurance Against War Says Speaker

An alert citizenry, armed with the determination that wars shall be no more, is the best assurance that we have that our soldier dead will not have died in vain, the Rev. Harold Martinson told his audience at the Memorial Day ceremony at Lakeside park Thursday morning.

Rev. Martinson's talk was a part of the impressive ceremony dedicated to the memory of American war dead. Memorial Day, he said, is an occasion for memories—not only of the men who faced danger and who made the supreme sacrifice, but also the loved ones at home, particularly the mothers and fathers who suffered the pangs of anguish perhaps even greater than the soldiers did.

It is not for us to hate and to bear malice against other nations and other people, he said, but rather to seek better understanding of each other and to realize that it is our duty to seek to live in peace with our neighbors.

Manistique's three veterans organizations joined forces to assemble a lengthy parade of veterans of both World Wars I and II, the ceremony being conducted under the direction of Dr. A. R. Tucker, master of ceremonies. The line of march and salutes to the dead were under the command of Sergt. Harold Mayer.

The ceremony took place at the soldiers' plot in Lakeview cemetery. Other salutes were fired at the World War I memorial, the World War II memorial plaque and at Fairview cemetery.

John Bellaire Returns From Family Reunion

John I. Bellaire returned Wednesday from a week's visit at White Pidgeon, where he attended a family reunion at the home of a sister, Mrs. Homer Fetch. It was an occasion of far from ordinary moment because it was the first reunion of this sort in twenty-five years and he had not seen many of them in a much longer time than that.

Mr. Bellaire, who is 74 years of age, is the oldest of a family of eight, all of whom are living. All but one of this family were present at the gathering, some of them making trips from the west coast to be present.

Candidate For City Manager Withdraws

Marquette—A message to Mayor James J. Beckman from Clarence H. Elliott, former city manager of Plymouth, Mich., who had submitted his application for the city managership of Marquette, requested that his name be withdrawn from the list of candidates here.

Elliott asked that his name be withdrawn because he had accepted a similar position at Jackson. He established an excellent record at Plyomuth, and it is understood he was chosen for the Jackson office from a long list of applicants.

Mayor Beckman said Elliott intimated in a previous 'phone call that he was filing his application for the Marquette managership with the understanding that he also had requested the Jackson position. The fact that his son enrolled in the University of Michigan, and Ann Arbor is only 38 miles from Jackson, was a factor in the decision.

Must Spend 60 Days In Jail

Mayne E. Beshore was given two separate jail sentences by Judge W. G. Stephens in justice court Tuesday on counts arising from reckless driving Saturday.

For reckless driving he was sentenced to serve sixty days and for passing a vehicle on the wrong side of the road, he was given a jail sentence of ten days. The sentences are to run concurrently.

This was a second offense of the same nature on the part of the 18-year-old youth and the jail sentence was given to impress him with the grave seriousness of reckless driving.

FACILITIES AT PARK IMPROVED

Concession Privileges Let At Indian Lake State Park

Indian Lake Park, from now on will be more than just a beauty spot. Through arrangement with Glen Gregg, superintendent of state parks in this area, concession privileges have been granted to Werner Ammon, manager of the City Bakery, and visitors, should they wish, may be served lunches, ice cream sodas, coffee and whatever else it takes to provide an outing.

Mr. Ammon will also conduct a boat livery and have charge of the bath house. Boats, for the present, have been extremely hard to secure, Mr. Gregg says, but the number will be increased from time to time and those who wish to enjoy fishing or boating will be accommodated.

Numerous improvements have been made at the park the past few months designed for the convenience of those who visit—particularly those who come with a view of spending the day.

Facilities have also been improved for those who come with trailers. Electric hookups can now be made and water is close at hand in the part of the park allotted to trailers.

One-fourth of the workers in the United States are engaged in lines of service that were unknown 35 years ago.

Ironwood Wins Team Trophy At Upper Peninsula Relays Here

J. PETERSON IS STAR OF MEET

Eskymos Sweep Individual Events At Local Field

While the Eskymos swept all three of the individual events, the Ironwood Red Devils piled up 16 points in the relay races to win the Knights of Columbus team trophy at the Upper Peninsula Relays here yesterday afternoon. Individual events do not count towards the K-C trophy.

The point score for the team cup follows: Ironwood 16, Escanaba 12, Munising 11, Newberry 11, Eben 10, Manistique 6, Hancock 5, J. D. Pierce 3, L'Anse 1.

Jack Peterson, of Escanaba, scored victories in both the 200 low hurdles and the 100 yard dash, nosing out Olson of Ironwood for the Relays century trophy in 10.4 seconds. Cliff Weir won the pole vault event for the Eskymos with a 12 foot leap.

The Eskymos could have tied Ironwood for the Relays team trophy by winning the Class B half mile relay, last running event of the afternoon. Olson, fleet Ironwood anchor man, overcame a five yard handicap on the final leg of the race to beat Jim Ross, of Escanaba, to the tape, clinching the team title for the Red Devils.

Munising tied one Relays record and broke another here yesterday. The Algerites ran the Class C-D 440 yard race in 47.4 seconds to tie the record set last year by Hancock. Later Munising broke Hancock's record in the half mile Class C, turning in 1:37.8.

Dark Horse Driver George Robson Wins Memorial Day Race

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

Indianapolis, May 30. (AP)—George Robson, 36-year-old unheralded driver of Los Angeles, never before winner of a major race, streaked to a surprising victory in the 30th renewal of the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today.

Driving the entire distance without relief, Robson made only one 30-second stop in his thundering triumph before a shirt-sleeved holiday crowd estimated at 150,000 upward.

Robson covered the 500 miles in 4:21:16.70 to average 114.820 miles per hour. Only three Indianapolis races have ever been won at a higher speed. His time had been bettered by the late Floyd Roberts, winner of the 1938 race; Wilbur Shaw, 1939 winner, and Maurie Rose, co-winner of the 1941 event, last of the Indianapolis classics before war forced a halt for five years.

Robson's triumph was worth $33,800 in cash, plus an airplane trip around the world and other incidentals. He hauled down $20,000 for first prize and $13,800 in lap-prize money, $100 for each lap he led.

The Pacific coast driver engaged in a nip and tuck battle with Jimmy Jackson, Palm Springs, Calif., for the last 300 miles. Robson led his rival except for a few fleeting seconds at 229 miles, when Jackson momentarily snatched the lead.

Jackson finished second, only one minute and four seconds back of Robson. Ted Horn of Paterson, N. J., was third, with Emil Andres of Chicago fourth and Sam Hanks of Alhambra, Calif., fifth, as relief driver for Joie Chitwood, Cherokee Indian, of Reading, Pa.

Hanks' car had been forced out at 45 miles. Lewis Durant of Burbank, Calif., was sixth; Gigi Villoresi, of Milan, Italy, only foreign driver in the race, seventh; Frank Wearne, Pasadena, Calif., eighth; Bill Sheffler, of Los Angeles, 28, and youngest driver in the race, ninth, and Billy Devore, of Indianapolis, tenth.

Sheffler was flagged off the track at 345 miles to end the race as his was the only car still running. Devore already had gone 415 miles when he was forced out and was not on the track when American Automobile Association officials declared the race ended.

Only eight cars of the original starting field of 33 survived the punishing grind.

Robson drove a low-slung, six-cylinder car owned by Joel Thorne, millionaire sportsman and race driver of Hollywood, Calif.

The failure of the 50-year-old Ralph Hepburn, dean of American race drivers, to finish after he had established an early lead was a shock to the fans. Hepburn was forced to withdraw at 302½ miles by a broken valve.

Mauri Rose, South Bend, Ind., co-winner of the 1941 race, fell victim to a serious smashup while traveling at terrific speed after he had gone only 80 miles. His wrecked car was strewn over the track after he hit the wall on the north turn and he miraculously escaped death, although suffering burns.

A crackup also eliminated the highly regarded, novel two-engine car driven by Paul Russo, of Kenosha, Wis., who suffered a broken leg and a lacerated chin. His crash also was on the north turn and he had traveled only 37½ miles.

Rex Mays of Long Beach, Calif., defending A. A. A. national driving champion and one of the pre-race favorites, covered only 45 miles before he was forced to surrender because of a broken oil line.

The jinx against the car in the pole position, No. 1 spot in the starting lineup, was functioning perfectly again today. Cliff Bergere of Indianapolis, 49, and one of four drivers who tried for the fifteenth time to win the race, had to quit at 205 miles after leaking oil burned his legs.

After Henry Ford II, paced the drivers to a flying start, Rose shot into the lead at a blistering speed, but had lost the lead to Hepburn at the 50-mile post. When 150 miles had been reeled off, Hepburn had lost the No. 1 spot to Robson, with Bergere second and Jackson third.

After Bergere had dropped out, it was Robson and Jackson fighting it out the rest of the way.

TIGERS DIVIDE WITH BROWNIES

Greenberg Smacks Three Homers; First Won, 7-1; Nightcap Lost, 2-1

St. Louis, May 30 (AP)—Powerful Hank Greenberg smashed out three home runs today to run his season's total to eleven, but he and his Detroit Tiger mates had to be satisfied with a split of the holiday doubleheaader with the St. Louis Browns, winning the first 7 to 1 and dropping the second 2 to 1 before 18,270 paying customers.

His two circuit drives in the opener, one with two men on, accounted for four of the seven runs with which the Tigers supported Diz Trout's eight-hit pitching. His seventh-inning blow in the nightcap provided the only run allowed by Denny Galehouse in scoring his first victory of the season.

Trout had a shutout going into the ninth of the opener but Mark Christman and Pinch Hitter Joe Schultz combined two doubles for a counter.

Sam Zoldak was the losing pitcher in the opener, and Virgil O. (Fire) Trucks the second game loser. Cliff Fannin, working in a relief role in the opener, fanned five Tigers in succession to come within one of the American League record.

SWIFT PACE CONTINUES

Boston, May 30 (AP)—Before their largest home crowd of the season, 33,505, the top-place Red Sox maintained their blistering pace today by sweeping a Memorial Day doubleheader with the Washington Senators by 6-5 and 7-2 margins.

The Sockers had to overcome a 4-1 lead to capture the opener. They batted in their tying and winning runs in the ninth, when Johnny Pesky, Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr singled consecutively against Sid Hudson.

Mickey Harris gained his eighth win in the nightcap, which the Sockers salted away by pounding Ray Scarborough for three tallies in the first frame.

FELLER STOPS SOX

Cleveland, May 30 (AP)—Bob Feller notched his seventh victory and fourth shutout of the season today as the Cleveland Indians set the Chicago White Sox down 3 to 0 on the first game of a doubleheader, but Chicago came back in the nightcap to win 4 to 0 with the help of home runs by Wally Moses and Hal Trosky.

Feller's performance snapped a White Sox winning streak at four games and gave them their first setback since Ted Lyons replaced Jimmy Dykes as manager.

Catcher Frankie Hayes' two-run homer in the second put the opener on ice for the Tribe after it had scored once in the first frame.

The White Sox' second game homers came when the bases were empty, Moses getting his in the third and Trosky in the sixth. Later in the sixth, with the bases loaded, Pitcher Ralph Hamner singled to score two more runners.

BOMBERS TAKE TWO

New York, May 30 (AP)—The New York Yankees looked like the Bronx Bombers of old today in blasting out a double victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 1 and 6 to 3. A crowd of 60,851 (59,689 paid), saw the initial twin-bill of the year at the Yankee Stadium.

The Dickeymen slammed out ten hits in the first game, including home runs by Tommy Henrich and Joe Di Maggio, and then collected 15 singles in the afterpiece which the veteran rescuer Johnny Murphy saved in the ninth.

Murphy came into the second game after the A's had kayoed Floyd Bevens in the seventh and had filled the bases on Randy Gumpert in the ninth. Fireman Johnny fanned Tuck Stainback, forced Pete Suder to hit into a force out at the plate and struck out Russ Derry to end the game and preserve Bevens' third win.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Oscar Wassberg, Negaunee high school coach, seems to have hit the jack pot with his scheme for an all-star football game to be played at Negaunee August 17. By restricting the game to graduates of the 1946 high school classes, Wassberg neatly by-passes the Michigan H.S.A.A., which almost certainly would have tossed a wet blanket on the scheme. As it now stands, it appears unlikely that the MHSAA can do anything to stop the all-star show, even if it would like to do so. The matter is before the state association now merely because the U.P. coaches association would like to get behind the enterprise, but hesitates to do so without a green light from the state authorities.

* * *

There may be some prep football stars who will not be able to attend the week's practice program, but with proper encouragement from the individual high school coaches it is likely that representative all-star teams can be secured for the event. From an entertainment standpoint, it should be a good show and with a weather break, the all-star game probably would sell out the house and all the standing room, particularly since the game will be played at night under the lights. Proceeds should be sufficient to meet all operating expenses with plenty to spare.

* * *

Wassberg has proposed that Negaunee be privileged to conduct the event for the first three years, after which it would be rotated through the various sections of the peninsula. The request is a reasonable one. Since the idea sprung from the fertile mind of the Negaunee coach and he has made the initial arrangements for the event, it naturally follows that Negaunee should retain the franchise for three years. Negaunee is centrally located, has excellent facilities and is in the heart of a good sports territory.

* * *

After the three year period, the all-star event presumably will move to a "southern" city. The most centrally located community in the southern section of the Upper Peninsula is Escanaba, obviously. Of course, Escanaba does not have lights for its football field now, but in 1949, when the all-star show will move from its birthplace, Escanaba will surely have facilities for night football. By cooperating fully with the Negaunee undertaking now, Escanaba can get its foot in the door for the 1949 all-star U.P. football attraction, an event which promises to be outstanding in peninsula sports attractions.

* * *

Whether the MHSAA gives its blessing to Wassberg's enterprise or not, or whether the U. P. Coaches association decided to actively support the event, the Escanaba Daily Press sports department, for one, pledges its cooperation to the proposal. It may be taken for granted that the other newspapers in the Upper Peninsula will do likewise. This is a scheme that will do a lot of good for high school football in the Upper Peninsula and the schools should welcome it.

Bruins Get Draw In Twin Bill As Wyse Pitches 4-Hit 6-2 Victory

Chicago, May 30 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds retained third place in the National League today by coming from behind with a rousing six-run ninth inning rally to beat the Chicago Cubs, 7-6, in the second game of a Memorial Day double-header.

Catcher Ray Mueller's first home run of the year with a runner aboard supplied the tying and winning runs before a standing room only turnout of 45,120 paid fans.

Before the Reds were able to take advantage of Mueller's only hit of the day, Hank Wyse assured the Cubs a draw by pitching a four-hitter in the opener to gain a 6-2 triumph.

TWO INNINGS, SIX RUNS

Pittsburgh, May 30 (AP)—Weathering hectic eighth and ninth innings in which a total of 16 runners crossed the plate, St. Louis edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 12 to 11, in the second game of a double bill after dropping the opener to the Bucs, 9 to 3. A holiday crowd of 34,994 jammed Forbes Field.

The Pirates overcame the Redbirds' five-run lead in the nightcap with seven runs of their own in the last half of the eighth inning.

The Pirates clinched the opener with a six-run eighth inning which broke a 3-3 tie. The first seven Buccos got on base in the weird eighth frame and six scored on six hits and a walk.

DUROCHER OUSTED

Brooklyn, May 30 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers retained their two-game advantage over the St. Louis Cardinals by splitting a twin bill with the Boston Braves today before 35,484 paid admissions. Kirby Higbe pitched the Dodgers to a 5-0 shutout win in the opener, but the Braves came back to outslug the Brooks 10-8 in the nightcap.

The second game also saw the ousting of Manager Leo Durocher for being too emphatic in his remarks concerning a disputed strike in the second inning.

Hank Behrman of the Dodgers and Ed Wright of the Braves both survived stormy first innings in the nightcap, each being nicked for three hits and two runs. It really started to pour for Brooklyn hurlers in the second, however. Behrman pitched to five batters. Rex Barney, who relieved him, pitched to four, walking them all, and Art Herring pitched to three more before the side was retired. Meantime seven runs had scored on three hits, four passes and an error.

GIANTS DROP PAIR

Philadelphia, May 30 (AP)—Defeating the New York Giants by scores of 8 to 5 and 3 to 1, the Philadelphia Phillies today won a double-header for the first time this year, simultaneously extending their victories to three in a row, their longest winning streak.

A four-run rally at the expense of relief Pitcher Rube Fischer in the eighth inning gave the Phil the opener. It went down as Pitcher Hugh Mulcahy's second victory since 1940.

Oscar Judd stopped the visitors with six hits in the second game. He was given the winning run when Ron Northy hit his fourth homer of the year in the fifth.

Services In Pacific

Navy planes winging over the Pacific from Hawaii flew poppy wreaths to Guam, Saipan, Tinian, Okinawa, Wake, Midway, Kwajalein and Tarawa in tribute to the dead resting in those now quiet battlegrounds.

Three huge floral bouquets were flown 3,000 miles from Pearl Harbor and placed in marine cemeteries on Roi, Namur and Eniwetok in the Marshalls and a fourth was laid in a cemetery on Oahu.

Services were held in American-occupied Japan. Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger at Yokohama in a Memorial Day message to his Eighth Army said that hope for world peace lies in a strong international peace organization. In Tokyo Japanese placed a wreath of flowers at a monument honoring Gen. U. S. Grant, who visited Japan in 1879.

In an address at Santo Tomas university Philippines Commissioner Paul V. McNutt said the war had forged unity between America and the Philippines. He called for an end to racial intolerance.

In Nanking Gen. George C Marshall, special envoy to China, said the United States was trying in China "to be of genuine unselfish assistance without price or promise." At services in the small foreign cemetery the former U. S. Army chief of staff summoned the Chinese to abandon "suspicion, hate, bitterness and all of the other evil passions of the situation" in order to avoid civil war.

Backed far down in the betting as benefits his standing as handicap champion, Armed returned $4.10, $3.20 and $2.40: Reply paid $8.70 and $4.30, and Stymie $2.90. The time was 2:02 for the mile and a quarter.

Nelson Holds Lead Over British Champ

Mamaroneck, N. Y., May 30 (AP) —Byron Nelson, though playing below form, maintained the upper hand over British Open Champion Dick Burton in the second half of their 36-hole international challenge golf match today to win, 7 and 6, at the Winged Foot Golf Club.

Three over par on the first nine with a 39 and still able to retain the 6-hole margin he won yesterday at Newton, Mass., Nelson shut the door in the Briton's face by playing par golf for the first three holes of the back nine. The deciding hole was the short 10th, where Nelson got his par three while Burton scrambled to a 5

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our beloved wife, mother, grandmother and sister, Mrs. Evelyn Thinglum, who died May 31, 1942.

What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in days that used to be;
But some sweet day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In Heaven, that happy life.

Sadly missed by

THE OLE THINGLUM FAMILY.

SLEEPING CHILD INJURED HERE

Youngster Is run Over By Car Of Guests At Parents' Home

Johnny, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Martinson, 1410 North 18th street, who was run over by an automobile driven by his uncle, a guest at his parents' home, about 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night, is still in St. Francis hospital and "not yet out of danger," his physician said late yesterday.

The child was asleep under the car of Henry Besson, 603 North 20th street, when the Bessons, who had been visiting at the Martinson home, backed their machine from the curb in front of the house, the left front wheel passing over the abdomen of the boy, who was immediately taken to the hospital.

Extent of the child's injuries could not be accurately determined immediately and he is being kept under observation.

The boy had been playing with his sister and the Besson children near the Martinson home and his absence was not noted until the accident occurred.

New Neon Sign On Water Tank Will Be Completed Saturday

Meiers Sign workmen will complete the erection of a large neon "Escanaba" sign on the municipal water tank probably on Saturday. Work began early this week.

The letters of the sign are over six feet in height and are clearly visible from a considerable distance.

Cost of the sign is $700. Meiers submitted the lower of two bids on the project.

Wild horses of the Gobi desert are only four feet high.

Cornell 4-H Club Organized Recently

A 4-H club was organized at Cornell recently, under the direction of Ben Westrate, county 4-H leader.

The club, which has a membership of 24, elected the following officers at their first meeting: Howard Knaus, leader; Fred McFadden, president; Maysie Campbell, vice-president; Mary Ann Knaus, secretary; Maurice Corbisier, treasurer.

A variety of projects were selected for the coming year, including raising of dairy stock, gardening, food preparation and canning, potato growing, soil conservation and tractor maintenance.

Large quantities of burlap wrappings, cotton waste and high-grade linen drawing cloth are used by steel companies annually.
